

BOCCA DI MAGRA

Relazione

At the border between Liguria and Tuscany lies the boat marina of Bocca di Magra. Here was built and finished around 1975 a little restaurant with few rooms.

At the entrance floor, the bar/lounge, the restaurant room, kitchen and services. In a side wing eight rooms. In the upper floor under the tiles roof other rooms with wide terraces.

No room is built over the kitchen and restaurant and the partition is expressed by an architectural element of masonry containing all exhausting of the ground floor plants.

The main architectural element is the clay tiles roof containing all upper floors rooms.

Exterior walls are covered with white plaster plaster. Windows painted white with a large use of local Carrara white marble for sill and other finishing elements.
